THE SCHOLARLY ACTIVITY OF THE ECUMENICAL INSTITUTE OF THE JOHN PAUL II CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY OF LUBLIN
IN 2017

Roczniki Teologiczne, no. 7: “Teologia Ekumeniczna” (Annals of Theology, no. 7: “Ecumenical Theology”; in 2008–2013: Roczniki Teologii Ekumenicznej / Annals of Ecumenical Theology) present the research and teaching activities as well as the structure of the Ecumenical Institute of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin (KUL). This compilation presents the academic and ecumenical events that the employees of the KUL Ecumenical Institute took part in in 2017.

I. ORGANIZATION OF THE ECUMENICAL INSTITUTE

The Ecumenical Institute (further referred to as EI) comprises two departments: the Department of Orthodox Theology and the Department of Protestant Theology. What is indispensable but still absent from the structure of the EI is the Department of Ecumenical Theology, which existed from the establishment of the Institute in 1983 until 2011, when it was closed by KUL’s Chancellor. This department was dedicated to research on Catholic participation in the ecumenical movement, the principles of ecumenism, the history of the ecumenical movement, and ecumenical dialogues.

The employees of the respective departments in the reporting period were: Rev. Prof. Marek Jagodziński, PhD, DSc, Associate Professor in the Department of Orthodox Theology; Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), Head of the Department of Protestant Theology; Piotr Kopiec, PhD, DSc, Assistant Professor in the Department of Protestant Theology; Krzysztof LEŚNIEWSKI, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), Head of the Department of Orthodox Theology; Rev. Sławomir Pawłowski SAC, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), employed in the Department of Orthodox Theology; Rev. Tomasz Siemieniec, PhD, Assistant Professor in the Department of Protestant Theology.

Rev. PRZEMYSŁAW KANTYKA, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL)—Head of the Department of Protestant Theology in the Ecumenical Institute of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin; address for correspondence—e-mail address: kantyka@kul.pl

II. RESEARCH AND TEACHING ACTIVITY

The teaching work of the EI followed the programme of lectures and classes approved by the Council of the Faculty of Theology and the Academic Senate of KUL. Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL) and Rev. Sławomir Pawłowski SAC, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL) conducted classes in ecumenism in diocesan and monastic seminaries in Lublin, Kielce, and Ołtarzew. EI staff also taught classes in non-ecumenical subjects: Piotr Kopiec, PhD, DSc, taught in the KUL Institute of Family Studies and Social Work; Rev. Prof. Marek Jagodziński, PhD, DSc, taught dogmatic theology in the Great Seminary in Radom; Rev. Tomasz Siemieniec, PhD, taught biblical theology in the Great Seminary in Kielce. Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL) continued his classes in systematic theology for doctoral students, taught in English.

All EI staff members engaged in research work, both as part of projects, developed in detail, of the Institute as a whole and as part of individual research and scholarly projects. These included, above all: book publications as well as cooperation with the Learned Society of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin (Towarzystwo Naukowe KUL), the Lublin Learned Society (Societas Scientiarum Lublinensis), and Wydawnictwo KUL (Catholic University of Lublin Press). The EI conducted its research projects in cooperation with domestic and international academic centres and institutions. Work on these projects took various forms: academic networking, organizing, co-organizing, and taking part in conferences and symposia, delivering lectures and presentations, preparing various kinds of publications, and exchanging lecturers with other academic centres, mainly ones located in Romania and the USA.

In the reporting period under discussion, as part of its statutory research, the Department of Orthodox Theology began research work on the topic of Theology and the Future of the Church and the World (project commenced on 1 January 2017). The Department of Protestant Theology continued work on its research topic (commenced on 1 January 2015). Church—Dialogue—Society.

III. NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH PROJECTS

In 2017, EI staff—Principal Investigator: Piotr Kopiec, PhD, DSc; Main Researchers: Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), and Rev. Marcin Składanowski, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), employed in the Institute of Dogmatic Theology—completed work on the research project Ecumenical Interpretations of Globalization Processes in the Activity of the World Council of Churches, classified for financing in 2013 by an OPUS 5 grant from the National Science Centre, Poland. The aim of the project was to analyze, interpret, and present the vision of the World Council of Churches regarding globalization. Work on the project was completed on 8 January 2017. Earlier, in 2016, publications completing the grant project came out (details are provided in the list of EI staff for 2016, included in Roczniki Teologiczne, no. 7, 2017).

In 2017, the staff of the Ecumenical Institute—Principal Investigator: Piotr Kopiec, PhD, DSc; Main Researchers: Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), and Rev. Marcin Składanowski, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), employed in the Institute of Dogmatic Theology—continued work on a new research project, Ecumenical Social Teaching. A Systematization of Political and Social Applications

(Ekumeniczna nauka społeczna. Systematyka politycznych i społecznych aplikacji dialogów ekumenicznych), classified for financing as part of the National Programme for the Development of the Humanities (NPRH; module: “Development” 2.b) on 9 February 2016. EI staff members—Rev. Przemysław Kantyka, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL); Piotr Kopiec, PhD, DSc; and Rev. Marcin Składanowski, PhD, DSc, Assoc. Prof. (KUL), employed in the Institute of Dogmatic Theology—continued the work they had started in 2013 as part of the team implementing the international research project titled European Ecumenical Network of the Culture of Memory (Ein europäisches ökumenisches Netzwerk Erinnerungskulturen).

The German partners in the project are Evangelischer Kirchenkreis Münster, Evangelisches Kirchenforum Münster, and the Latvian Center, and the Polish partner is KUL’s Department of Protestant Theology. The partners contributing to the project are from Germany, Latvia, Estonia, and the Netherlands. There are plans to launch joint initiatives consisting in the study and interpretation of the culture of memory in European countries. Work on the project has been extended to the whole of 2018.

IV. PROMOTION TO THE POST OF ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

By the decision of the Chancellor of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin, on 1 October 2017, Rev. Sławomir Pawłowski SAC, PhD, DSc, was employed for five years as Associate Professor.
